Bird reserve. The island is owned by the Duke of Northumberland. The Royal Society for the Protection of Birds manages the island as a bird reserve, for its important seabird colonies.. The most numerous species is the puffin, with over 18,000 pairs nesting in 2002, but the island is most important for the largest colony of the endangered roseate tern in Britain, which, thanks to conservation ...

Dubris, also known as Portus Dubris and Dubrae, was a port in Roman Britain on the site of present-day Dover, Kent, England.. As the closest point to continental Europe and the site of the estuary of the Dour, the site chosen for Dover was ideal for a cross-channel port. The Dour is now covered over for much of its course through the town. In the Roman era, it grew into an important military ...

Hi, enjoyed your New England blog...we plan to do something similar at the end of September. We will probably do a loop, by the way..starting in Boston (with no car for a day or so), make a loop of the New England States, but especially are wanting to spend time in Maine/Maine coast and New Hampshire.

There are three Maritime Provinces in Canada: New Brunswick, Prince Edward Island and Nova Scotia. They are on the Atlantic Ocean on the east side of the country. These three provinces along with Newfoundland form the region known as Atlantic Canada. A road trip through the Maritime Provinces is a wonderful adventure and a great one to do with kids.

In December 2018, YouTube struck three random old videos for "hate-speech" and terminated my entire channel once again. This time the supposed offending videos were my Ball Earth Skeptic Interview from 3 years ago, my Once You Go Flat rap song from 2 years ago, and my Atlantean Conspiracy book promo video from nearly 7 years ago.
