In organic chemistry, aromaticity is a property of cyclic (ring-shaped), planar (flat) structures with a ring of resonance bonds that gives increased stability compared to other geometric or connective arrangements with the same set of atoms. Aromatic molecules are very stable, and do not break apart easily to react with other substances. Organic compounds that are not aromatic are classified

My broad research interest is in the field of biogeochemical tracers to understand the past changes in Ocean chemistry and climate. I focus on developing and applying trace elements and isotopic compositions of foraminiferal shells from world oceans and reconstruct past changes in ocean chemistry to understand oceanic processes and climate variations on a shorter (decadal, glacial-interglacial ...
