In probability theory and statistics, the F-distribution, also known as Snedecor's F distribution or the Fisher–Snedecor distribution (after Ronald Fisher and George W. Snedecor) is a continuous probability distribution that arises frequently as the null distribution of a test statistic, most notably in the analysis of variance (ANOVA), e.g., F-test.

In probability theory and statistics, the chi-squared distribution (also chi-square or χ^2 -distribution) with k degrees of freedom is the distribution of a sum of the squares of k independent standard normal random variables. The chi-squared distribution is a special case of the gamma distribution and is one of the most widely used probability distributions in inferential statistics, notably ...

where G_p is the stress-time curve slope in the hardening region and ω_p is the intercept on the stress axis. The distribution of tensile strength σ_F is transferred linearly by the time to fracture, t_F , plus the intercept ω_p with a noise fluctuation. Fig. 1 shows that t_F and ω_p exhibit wide scatter, whereas the slope G_p exhibits almost no fluctuation. The fluctuation of ω_p is ...
